OGB Invites You To A Meeting And To Our Website

A Message From Tommy D. Teague

OGB Chief Executive Officer

The Office of Group Benefits is pleased to announce Annual Enrollment 2007: For You...For Your Family...For Your Health.

This year OGB is re-evaluating and re-bidding all our medical, prescription drug, mental health, disease management and other programs, because it's legally required and because state employees, retirees and their families deserve the best possible value for their health care dollars. We planned to begin this enormous task last year, but two ladies named Katrina and Rita blew our plans away.

We are now putting the finishing touches on the programs we will be offering in plan year 2007-2008. The best way to find out about your choices is to attend one of the more than 400 meetings we are holding around the state, including many specifically for retirees. Please check our list of meetings in this newsletter.

We are particularly excited about several new programs for our retirees, and about a significant increase in the lifetime maximum amount of benefits our plans will pay, effective July 1, 2007.

We urge you to visit our website to learn about plan benefits, as well as participating doctors, hospitals and other providers. We have updated our website and made it easier to use. It's open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Come see us online at www.groupbenefits.org.

Please note that we will no longer be printing paper provider directories. Because providers are always joining or leaving our program, a printed book is outdated before it comes off the press. Like many other health benefit organizations, OGB considers printed directories to be an unwise use of your health care dollars.

Our online provider lists are updated daily and are the most accurate information available. If you are unable to access our website, you can always call or visit your local customer service office, listed on the back of this newsletter.

OGB is also mailing a special How Do I Choose? brochure to all plan members. Your colleagues at OGB encourage you to review all this material and to attend a meeting in your community to help you make the best choice For You...For Your Family...For Your Health.

TAKE THIS FORM WITH YOU TO YOUR NEXT DOCTOR'S VISIT

Ask your doctor if any of your brand-name medications are available in generic form. Together, you and your doctor can ensure you receive the most care- and cost-effective medications available. You are encouraged to ask for generic drugs whenever possible.

Dear Doctor: Are any of my medications available in generic form?
Name of Medication	How Much Do I Take?	When Do I Take the Medication? How Often?	Why am I Taking this Medication?

DID YOU KNOW?

- Generic drugs are cost-saving alternatives to many brand-name medications.
- Generic drugs are identical to their brand-name counterparts in terms of dosage, safety, strength and quality.
- Generic drugs must be reviewed and approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA).
- Generic drugs are currently used for almost 50 percent of all prescriptions.*

Remember to ask your doctor about over-the-counter and dietary supplements.

OGB Plans and Benefits for 2007-2008

OGB will offer three health care plans in all areas of the state, effective July 1, 2007:

- the PPO (preferred provider organization)
- the EPO (exclusive provider organization)
- the HMO (health maintenance organization)

You will receive a pamphlet that compares the three plans and the premiums for each. We are mailing the pamphlet to plan members' homes later this month. This information will also be covered in our Annual Enrollment meetings across the state during April.

Effective July 1, 2007, the PPO, EPO and HMO plans will all have the same prescription drug program. Plan members will be pleased to know that there is no longer any lifetime maximum limit for drug costs. There is only one total lifetime maximum limit for all health care costs, and that limit has been substantially increased to $5 million. There are no other changes to the drug program.

Generic Drugs Can Save You Money

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that generic drugs save consumers $8 to $10 billion each year at retail pharmacies. The chart below compares costs for a 30-day supply of frequently prescribed brand-name drugs and generic alternatives.

BRAND PRODUCT	AVERAGE COST/ PRESCRIPTION	GENERIC ALTERNATIVE	AVERAGE COST/ PRESCRIPTION
Zoloft	$96.44	Sertraline	$68.78
Zocor	$134.33	Simvastatin	$10.50
Pravachol	$143.75	Pravastatin	$27.09
Prilosec	$192.73	Omeprazole	$28.50
Plavix	$133.87	Clopidogrel	$100.23
Zithromax	$64.99	Azithromycin	$44.99
Mevacor	$121.02	Lovastatin	$17.30

Zofran	$353.99	Ondansetron	$189.99
Neurontin	$125.81	Gabapentin	$45.44

Prozac	$131.65	Fluoxetine	$12.93

Special Choices for Special Retirees

As a retiree, you will have more choices than ever, effective July 1, 2007. You can join the PPO, EPO or HMO, or you may be eligible to voluntarily join one of these plans:

Tricare/ASI – available to those who have retired from the military.

Medicare Advantage Private Fee for Service (PFFS) – available statewide to those who are enrolled in Medicare A and B and all of whose dependents are enrolled in Medicare A and B.

A PFFS is a type of Medicare Advantage plan that works like original Medicare, except that the Medicare Advantage insurance company pays for covered services, not the federal government.

Those with the PFFS plan can see any doctor, hospital or other provider that accepts Medicare and agrees to accept the plan's payment terms.

Medicare Advantage HMO – available to plan members who live in Baton Rouge, New Orleans and Shreveport and are enrolled in Medicare A and B and all of whose dependents are enrolled in Medicare A and B.

Both of the Medicare Advantage plans will be offered by Humana, who will be sending information to eligible retiree plan members. These plans may be attractive to eligible retirees, because these plan members will pay less in premiums and may save out-of-pocket expenses.

In addition, Medicare Advantage participants will receive value-added services such as free health club memberships and other new fitness programs, and Active Outlook magazine, which features fun and other helpful programs and information.
